Upon request Hallandale Compounding Pharmacy may ask for Blood Work or Diagnosis for any patient on Human Growth Hormone. Does this pose a problem for the clinic?

Human Growth Hormone (HGH) is the active ingredient in a number of human prescription drugs approved for marketing in the U.S. under new drug applications (NDAs). FDA-approved HGH can be legally prescribed for a limited number of conditions including:

* hormonal deficiency that causes short stature in children;
* long-term treatment of growth failure due to lack of exogenous GH secretion;
* adult growth deficiency
* long-term treatment of short stature associated with Turner syndrome;
* adult short bowel syndrome;
* adult deficiency due to rare pituitary tumors or their treatment; and
* muscle-wasting disease associated with HIV/AIDS.

When prescribing HGH does the Doctor signing this profile prescribe it according to what its legal indications are (stated above)?
