
From: <earleywinee@missouri.edu>
Date: May 20, 2015 at 7:58:25 PM CDT
To: "HollyHesse@MissouriState.edu" <HollyHesse@MissouriState.edu>
Cc: "suefrederick@missouristate.edu" <suefrederick@missouristate.edu>, "bethperine@missouristate.edu" <bethperine@missouristate.edu>

Wow! Are you serious holly? Big accusations about my character and no clue of what you're talking about.
This isnt really about my character though, its about yours...or lack there of.
The truth of the matter is you're scared to get your ass whipped yet again by old mizzou.
Have the courage to say what it really is and quit hiding behind your phony excuses.
You've been ducking us for awhile now and you know it.
Pull your tail out from between your legs and learn how to compete.
I bet your players see right through you like i do.
Why dont you do the right thing and show these impressionable young ladies how to face a challenge instead of running from one?
If/when you decide to be a big girl, you know how to get ahold of me.
In the meantime, If you need tips on how to compete against mu, ask coach guttin.

Ps this current arrangement is actually good for my team because even when we trounce you, our rpi drops. Last time i checked you were at 118.
I have to give you credit though, you've been able to keep your job despite being horseshit for so long.

Hats off...

Ehren Earleywine
Head Softball Coach
University of Missouri